AMAQHAWE ESIZWE (HERO'S OF THE NATION)

South Africa let us take a look back where we come from, where our Freedom Fighters lived ngisho Amaqhawe Esizwe (Hero's of the Nation). Let us start from the 70's where black people were oppressed that is the history of South Africa.

Let us take a look back and learn from our doings, let us take a look at our treasure's like the 2010 Fifa World Cup and admire those people who gave those moment's so do not just look back.

Learn from those moment's and respect people who fought for our Freedom. Remember those freedom fighters, abo Walter Sisulu, Chris Hani and many more, may their soul rest in peace and those who still alive like Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela Ama..qha..we E..si..zwe (Hero's of the Nation) "Viva the spirit of Freedom viva".

Talking of Dom pass as a student, I admire izingane zomama with their parent those people who fight for Identity Passport and those people are really freedom fighters. We are living in a free country now just because they where fighting for us as their upcoming new generation. Long live the spirit of freedom fighters long live. Here are coming those moments of reconciling with the spirits of those who died June 16 for freedom. This is so good; I love to be South African because I will die like Amaqhawe Esizwe (Hero's of the Nation) learns it from Freedom Fighters. Long live to those who said Imfundo Ayigugelwa Back to school and study for your own good and your family.
